

< Previous

Next >

Data masking

Bookmark this page

Data masking software hides data by obscuring letters and numbers with proxy characters. The data is still there, behind the masking. The software changes the data back to its original form only when an authorized user receives that data.

< Previous

Next >

